You are the ultimate portal of communicating all the version of you. Okay. So let me explain to you. Uh I had a a records reading this morning. I opened the record but I didn't have time to record. So I cannot exactly use the same words. But what they showed me is that the healing work you do right that's why we call healing work is at the fourth dimension but there are some healing work at fifth dimension and sixth dimension. So how how to do it is through this this version view that you can communicate the version view in different timeline different points of time which is this 3D also in the 4D but in the 5D is different reality for the choices that you made let's say one of the choice that I'm not making this video one of choice that I didn't come to United States doesn't make sense so that's in 5D So you are healing the healing work you do you in this final version of you. So more you work on yourself you're not only going to work through the trauma in your this lifetime but you also can work through the trauma of your parents your ancestors and you also can work through the trauma in past lives. Now even deeper is also some are on your soul imprints on your soul journey and which means that there are some version of you are different life beings you are not in human body uh not all of you know some of more of earthling based souls. So which means they are so incarnated um different lifetimes as a human but not all of you are how to say purely human but you are human but what I'm saying that you have lineage from the star beings that sometime you might sense something that doesn't make any sense and you don't have any acknowledge of that but you're feeling it because that's the some are your star lineage uh some your past life some are ancestral that all going through you. So it's very important to sometime just that tap into within to pull which timeline, which version of you are calling you for help. So you are the person who save yourself if makes sense. Okay. [snorts]

I guarantee that your attention is shaping reality. And once you hear this video, you might never look at manifestation the same again. What if manifestation has nothing to do with effort and everything to do with observation? Observation isn't just looking at reality. It's the story that your attention keeps confirming. What reality are you constantly confirming with your attention? To observe something is to consistently focus on it, mentally return to it, and expect it to be true. Our attention is how our consciousness interacts with this reality, but also how it selects the reality that we live. Your observations are where your attention repeatedly and consistently lands. And quantum physics has already proven this with the double split experiment. Our reality works in one specific way when we are specifically looking at it for a certain outcome. But when no one's watching, there are literally infinite possibilities that could take place. It is only through our attention that we collapse into one single reality that we can be aware of. Let me illustrate this for you. Imagine flipping through a TV with all these types of television channels. Every single channel is existing at one time on that guide, but there's only one show that you can experience at a time. Reality literally works in the same exact way, and it's why your life is the way it is. to connect this back to manifestation. If you are consistently and constantly observing lack, problems, obstacles, that's the reality that you are going to keep viewing, observing, looking at. But when you begin observing for opportunities, possibilities, and the version of you who is successful, then there's a completely different timeline that appears and you can be aware of from there. Manifestation has never been about forcing reality to change. It has always been about deciding which version of reality you are willing to observe. Because the observer doesn't just watch reality, they are literally creating it. The observer effect suggests something extremely wild. That reality may not just be discovered, but you are literally participating in a co-creation of reality with your consciousness. Your consciousness that uses attention to select the reality that appears. your consciousness that is a part of the process that brings the version of your reality into experience. So your attention isn't just noticing your life. It's literally rehearsing the version of reality that you keep on experiencing.

Guys, the energy crisis is not real. I'm serious. Nothing fundamental ever runs out of energy, and oscillation never stops. Every proton oscillates forever, and every atom is infinitely powered. So, when was the last time the universe built you for the energy to hold all your atoms together? Exactly. Are we pretending energy is scarce? Here's what happened. At some point, physicists did the math and they found infinite ground state energy, the zero point energy that exists everywhere. and they didn't know what to do with it. So they just erased infinite energy out of all the equations. They deleted it. Education system trained physicists around that deletion, controlled how they think and fragmented everything. Meanwhile, inventors have access this infinite energy field. This has been verified. You don't need to smash atoms and you don't need stadiumsiz reactors. You use coupling aka harmonic relationships. Imagine that. It's coils and oscillators. You match the energy of the field and the energy flows. That's it. That's how atoms exist in the first place. Nicola Tesla did this. And if you want receipts, Steven Greer actually made a documentary about this. Hold on. Called the Lost Century. And it talks about what happens to these inventors that try to go down the hey guys, we have free energy route. Zero excitement in that market. The energy crisis is a trillion dollar business and free energy kind of kills it. They leaked it in Oenheimimer, too. I don't know if y'all caught. They said, "We're going to extract energy from the strong force." While we're talking about realism, what sounds more logical? A virus that spread because someone ate a bat and now a virus that has previously never attacked human cells is attacking human cells or lab down the street working on manipulating source energy to make viruses cross species. Just asking. Atoms are 99.9% space and at the center the energy is squeezed so tightly that space folds on itself. That fold is a shortcut. It's a wormhole. That's why everything is connected because at the center of everything is not matter. It's a wormhole. Everything is wormholed together. Which is why particles across the planet update the same information instantaneously. It's funny is when you look at the physics of physical things, it's not physical at all. Fields interacting, ratios, geometry, invisible instantaneous energy exchange, which accidentally gives you the hermetic principles. Ancient civilizations already knew this. Sun gods, star people, tribes with no technology. But within if you want to access heaven, they didn't mean metaphorically. They meant physically. There is no separation. The material world tunnels directly into infinite energy and knowledge. So yeah, everything is connected. Particles, you black holes through wormhole like structures in spaceime. That's why when you calculate the math of one particle, you find the math of the entire universe. It's a part everyone pretends as sci-fi. Built this entire society by learning how to control electromagnetic fields, right? Electromagnetism is external. You can wire it, weaponize it, sell it. Gravity is internal. Gravity is the field that holds things together. It shapes matter. It creates bodies. That's why ancient civilizations treated it as sacred, as the womb, as source, as God. You control gravity. You don't burn fuel. You levitate pyramids, which ancient civilizations already did. It's not futuristic. It's forgotten. There is no lack. There is no energy crisis. It's symbolic of a society that has suppressed the feminine and the internal state for ages. Story of society that forgot infinity existed.

modern medicine, fitness, nutrition, psychology, all of these western sciences are derived from colonial imperialism built on the same crimes that the rest of it is. It's antithetical to living. Its purpose is to poison. They are wrong about almost everything down to some of the fundamentals, including what's considered basic biochemistry truths. We don't breathe in oxygen. Oxygen isn't fuel. Therefore, mitochondria isn't a powerhouse. DNA isn't the schematics for your entire body. isn't used as energy. It's actually just biomass. We acquire nutrients from synthesizing what we eat and break down. Metals, minerals, proteins, amino acids, hormones, vitamins. 99% of our body is made by our body and our microbiome, which is part of us. to say nothing of the incorrect interpretations and application of microbiology theory itself which is derived from stolen and bastardized teno bahikes and cultural practices. So of course modern healing theories are wrong. They fail. Furthermore, the sciences are built from theories, studies, tests that use torture from people who are abusive, pedophiles, drug addicts, and so on. Often in context of philosophies that are already highly problematic and destructive, inherently wicked, such as from Nietze, Vult and other transhumanist and fascist, colonial ideologies, or their predecessors. I, for one, refuse to participate in something constructed by this empire. Modern science may know everything, but it understands nothing. And you are being poisoned by them. In an industrialized process, you are domesticated and made to believe that without modern techniques and understandings, you would die. They have created false safety nets that are actually nooes. Health insurance is a mental disease and you should get rid of it. I can collapse the medical and scientific industry because they are wrong and it's easy to do. You have to wrestle from their web of lies. And the assurance I can give you is that you can stand on your own two feet without their crutches. Their false teachings of how food works, how light works, what energy is, where it comes from. As of right now, they siphon your time, your money, your well-being, your peace, and the ability to prosper. And especially, they target women, people of color, and really any poor or minority person. Because these colonial sciences are made to sicken and to destroy people's will, to take advantage of them, to make them see there is no choice. You were told you are dying and sick. Yet they offer no remedy. Though they pretend to give you little cures or advice on what to eat, what nutrients or vitamins you need, what pills or injections will help you, lies all of it. Science is a cult of methodology, one which I despise, that is actively harming everyone and the earth. To the very concept of what it means to be alive, the core story of living. So what can you do? Stop taking your medicine, your pills, and your supplements. Stop finding exotic foods full of this or that. Stop being scared. Stop being weak. Live without these things for a week, then a month. Just try it.

You have nothing to lose if you're sick anyways. When you have to survive, when your will is strong and you have a hunger for life, your body will stitch itself together. People have been convinced to fear the sun. Yet, this is where you learn to regulate your nervous system. When you can withstand the sun in your bare skin without worry, without overheating. When you can feel the grass and the sunlight. When you reach inside and find the anger at this system which has made you sick and ruined your ancestors and to have made the future bleak. That wrath will heal you. Revenge is the best medicine in the world. That will carry you out of their web and teach you how to move again to find the fire inside. That is the light of your life. And it is the light from within every cell in the nervous system that supplies energy that tells your body how to heal, where to grow, what to do. It is the light of your being. You are bioluminescent and you have biophotons and they talk to DNA and that feeds the mitochondria. And this light is the same as your dreams and imagination. That is what they are. This is what powers your whole existence. And as for microbes, they are the gods. They are ancestors. They are masters of game. They are the land and the river, the wind and animals, the insects and plants. And you are all one with these, though divided in form, unified by microbe and element. And for any medicine or change to work, you must break the siege of your own nervous systems fear and rigidity. You must shake free katharsis, the locked down muscles, and inflamed fear response to a world you cannot dare stand up to. Because you are docile and afraid and fear is their pillar that they keep you chained to. So tear it down within yourself and be free. The healing will follow when you act, when you do, when you start to move, when you decide to take blessed vengeance. Then you will see miracles happen.

money astrology. Let's talk about how your chart can show you how you make money, how you can work, not spiritually bypass, okay? But how you can work to make money. You have your second house, your eighth house, and your midheaven. Those are all the the career/moneyastrology indicators. Your midheaven tells you how you're going to retire. the midheaven, the Saturn, Saturn, midheaven, 10 degrees, 22 degree placements, those all those placements tell you about your career, about how everything you're managing at one time. So, for example, I'm in Aries 10th house Saturn in Capricorn. Are they square? I don't know. But it would make a lot of sense considering the fact that I've been sexually harassed. Saturn is square in Aries midheaven. But in Aries midheaven, I'm the one, baby. individuality, entrepreneurship, doing things alone. I'm changing a lot of um and I have the power to do it alone. I'm not complaining about it. Like I said, I've been sexually harassed honestly at every job I've ever been on. Thank God I don't have to work. But the 10th house and the midheaven tell you about your tradition, too. So, as an Aries midheaven, my dad military, my mom military, my great-grandfather military, Aries rules the military, my my dad a police. So, you see how it represents all my tradition, but also the fact that I'm changing that because Aries is the infant. So the 10th house tells me how I'm managing everything and and how I'm making mine, how I'm going to retire, but it also tells me how the people before did it. And Aries is entrepreneurship and newness, but Aries is also police and um military. Now the eighth house is the power of money that represents your customer base. Think about a customer base. That's other people's money when it comes to building business. Uh the eighth house is paramount. Okay. So my I have Mercury in my eighth house. What's Mercury? technology questions, conversations. I do readings, nothing but conversations on live conversations, recording readings, verbalization. Oh, and then my my eighth house is Aquarius. Okay, Aquarius, astrology, social media. I have an Aquarius, Mercury in the eighth house. Aquarius is new tech technology. Mercury is fundamental technology. Mercury is a conversation, okay? A word, a character. Aquarius, you know, Aquarius is the higher octave of Virgo and and Gemini. So, Aquarius is scientific theory. Aquarius is speaking to people about scientific theory and and provoking a person's aha moments and their epiphanies. You see how I get paid for that? Literally, literally on my menu, um, I have, you know, an option where people can ask me questions. They can pay me to ask me questions. That's what people do. But the second house opposes the eighth house. They work in tandem. The second house is a physical house. It is the it it's it's how things physically manifest. I'm a Leo second house. You see, I I am the one on stage on live online. So, you see, in fact, let's look at my chart. Let's look at my chart. Hey, boo. Hey, chart. Now, my midheaven being at five degrees, a Leo degree. Come on, star.

She's a star. Aries. Okay. My eighth house is Aquarius. You see all the and the moon. I nurture people. I'm a cancer rising and I nurture people. My first life coaching client uh a woman a mother of seven children. I have the sun there. Okay. The sun and five work together. So I have some of the sun here. Performance at everything is at a Gemini degree. 27 degrees 15. Okay. This is my power of money and the skills. Okay. You see the the theory of manifestation through the opposites. I manifest this through the physicality of this Leo. Okay, Virgo. I write books. I love that's why I do plastice. I've written books. Leo, I'm the star here. Okay, Lilith. I dig shit up. And then I'm just seeing my Saturn and my Neptune are conjunct at 0 degrees in the sixth house. Zero is a Pisces degree. The sixth house is the Virgo house of bookw writing, books, and women. And that's my business. Okay. Now, I want to look at Oprah's chart. to where's okay because you you see how I have Aquarius in the eighth and Leo in the second. Oprah has Leo in the eighth, Aquarius in the second. And do you see how she we both we both sit in a place where we talk to people. But you see how she talks to superstars. You see how I talk to regular people. I'm more the star where I stand and I talk to the people. She's the person who talks to the stars. So her Aquarius second house, she manifests that energy physically as an Aquarius. I physically manifested as a Leo. Now this is this is Oprah's chart. Okay. Not her middle name being Gail and her best friend being Gail. That's crazy. Um, first of all, she's born on the 29th, a Leo day, an anorectic day. Then she has her MC in Libra, partnership. She's always talking to somebody in partnership. Her and Gail, her and um, Dr. Phil. Okay. Her eighth house has Pluto and Leo. Her power of money is Leo. That's why she interviews superstars. Remember, I talk to regular people. She interviews superstars, but she's the Aquarius in the bunch. And you see how her second what? What? What's there? Mercury. She literally sits there and she talks in conversation. Venus partnership. Okay, you see how the second house physically manifests her eighth house. So that's how money and making money works when you think about it astrologically. When you look at your chart and you want to see how your chart can explain how you're supposed to work to make your money and ultimately when people come up to my lives asking about making money and you know how to build wealth, most times they want to spiritually bypass because they haven't done shit to try or they're working jobs not understanding how much it takes to to to work a job and build wealth. You can, but you got to shave your time down. You got to you got to plan time after work to to think about your business, to work on your business. But half of y'all got them jobs to distract yourself from that business because a job is stable. Money is deep. Listen to Work, Bitch by Britney Spears. I don't care. I don't care how how how fascinatingly intelligent I might be. She gave y'all to read Work
